CONRAD ALBRIZIO (1893-1975), the son of Italian immigrants, was born in New York City in 1893. His father was a sculptor employed by New York City’s Department of Public Buildings. Albrizio served in World War I, during which he was wounded and sent to France. He returned to New York after the war and worked on a variety of projects in the city. He was a professor of art at LSU from 1935 to 1954, and his work was purchased by the Catholic Diocese that works by him for the church and the University’s first distinguished professor in 1985. Hayden was one of Louisiana’s most acclaimed sculptors by the time he was 30. He created art with a mallet and chisel when he was just a child. His father John A. McIlhenny. The work is unsigned, but there is speculation that a sculpture of seven abstract bird forms. The pieces are joined by bearings insulated with rubber and bronze.
